ARRIVAL

A Royal Welcome

A torch-lit procession of elephants and horsemen at the gate

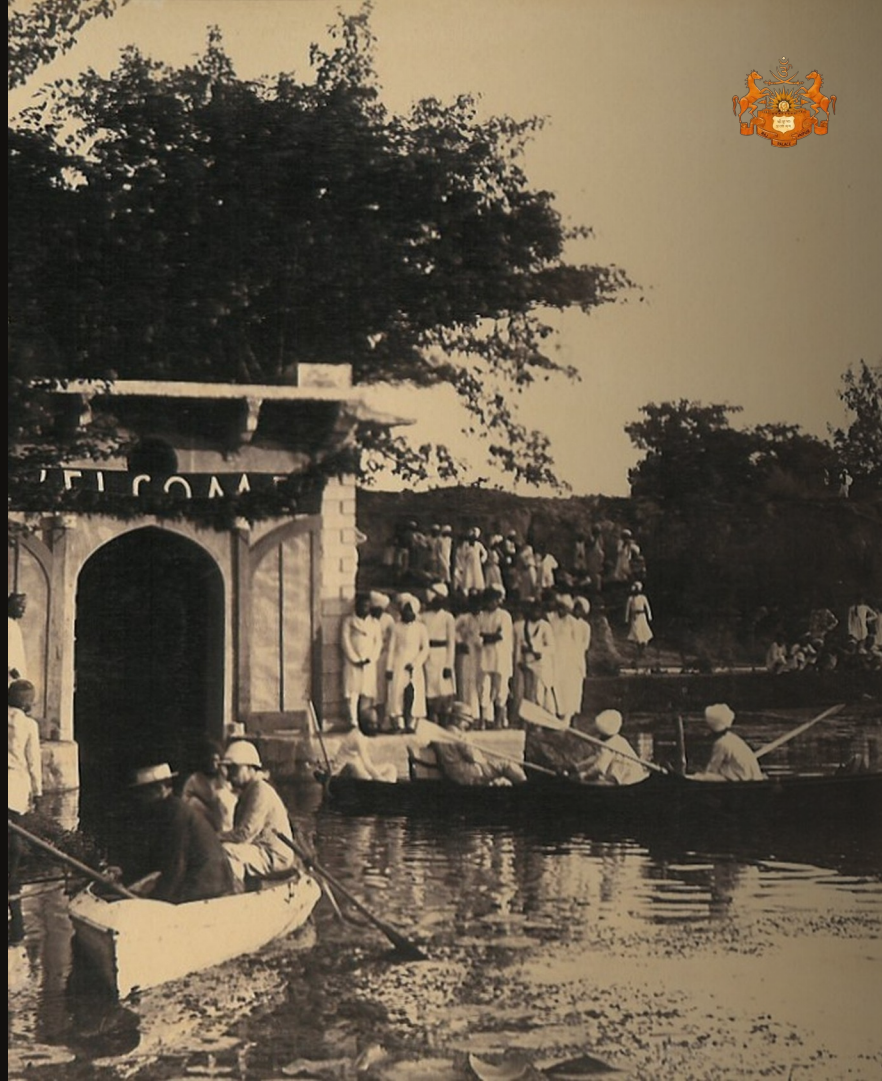

SINCE 1503

A Royal Lineage

In 1503, Maharaja Prithviraj Singh ruled Amber, the capital before Jaipur was built.

His descendant Thakur Manohardas, Prime Minister of Amber and one of the greatest warriors in Rajput history, ruled Chaumoo, Samode and Mohanna.

Alongside Maharaja Man Singh of Jaipur, he won 22 battles — including Kandhar in Afghanistan — and was honoured with the original flag of Amber and a great fortune.

1727 · 1997

From Palace to Heritage Hotel

Thakur Mohan Singh, ruler of Chaumoo and Prime Minister, built the first palace of Jaipur in 1727 — known today as The Raj Palace.

It is still inhabited by his 16th-generation descendant and current owner, Princess Jayendra Kumari.

In 1997, the Princess and her husband opened the palace as a heritage hotel, steeped in Rajasthani tradition and culture.

PRESIDENTIAL SUITE

Maharajah Pavilion

A four-floor, 16,000 sq ft private apartment with its own entrance through the Charbagh and a private elevator connecting every level.

Gold-leafed walls, stucco and mirror work, and a private museum displaying the Thakur Sahib's original throne.

A rooftop terrace with panoramic city views, private spa, jacuzzi and pool — served by a dedicated butler entrance.

PALACE SUITES

The Durbar Mahal

Asia’s Leading Suite, 2008 & 2009.

Among the most opulent of the palace suites — a showcase of Rajput grandeur, antique furnishings and intricate ornamentation.

PRESTIGE SUITES

Swarna Mahal & Beyond

Built across 750 sq ft, the Prestige Suites blend 17th-century panelling, allegorical ceilings and old-master antiques with priceless private museums.

Restored chambers — Raj Mahal, Swarna Mahal, Khaas Mahal — were the personal rooms of the royal family, witness to 13 generations.

Many international dignitaries, celebrities and heads of state have stayed within them.

NEW PRESTIGE SUITES

Designed by a Renowned American Architect

A new generation of Prestige Suites, conceived by a celebrated American architect.

The same heritage spirit — reimagined with contemporary comfort and refinement.

Raj Mahal Suite

Host to a private royal antique-collection museum

HISTORICAL ROOMS

Quarters of the Royal Family

Built across 550 sq ft, the Historical Rooms were home to royal dignitaries, the senior wives of the Thakur Sahib and the Crowned Prince.

Finest Italian marble, the latest bathroom design and technology, and original royal antique furniture.

Several feature a private museum of the family’s treasured collections.

HERITAGE ROOMS

Each Room, Its Own Soul

Built across 350 sq ft, the Heritage Rooms are sensitively restored and refurbished — some with private museums of royal art.

Italian-marble bathrooms with modern facilities and designer fittings.

A marriage of fine materials — rare woods, silk, brocade and master-crafted artefacts — once home to royal guests and junior family members.

FAMILY SUITES — TWO BEDROOM

Room for the Whole Family

Two interconnecting bedrooms around a shared royal drawing room — designed for families travelling together.

The privacy of separate chambers with the comfort of a common living space, each finished in the palace's heritage style.

Each suite opens to a private balcony framing the palace courtyards at sunrise.

FAMILY SUITES

Inside the Family Suite

Hand-painted arches, carved furnishings and marble bathrooms — a home within the palace for the whole family.

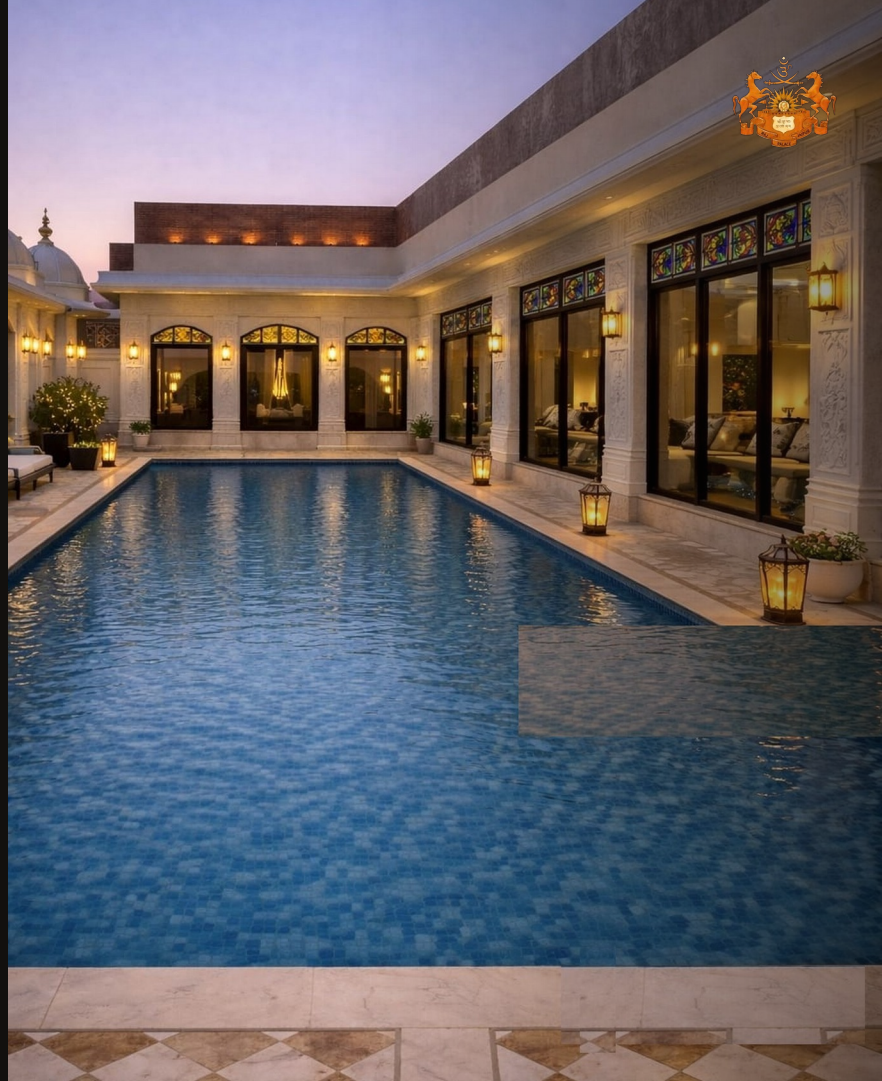

POOL VILLAS

A Private World

Secluded villas with a private plunge pool and walled courtyard — the most discreet way to stay at the palace.

Palace heritage paired with contemporary indulgence, butler service and complete privacy.

Each villa opens onto its own pool terrace, framed by carved stone and stained glass.

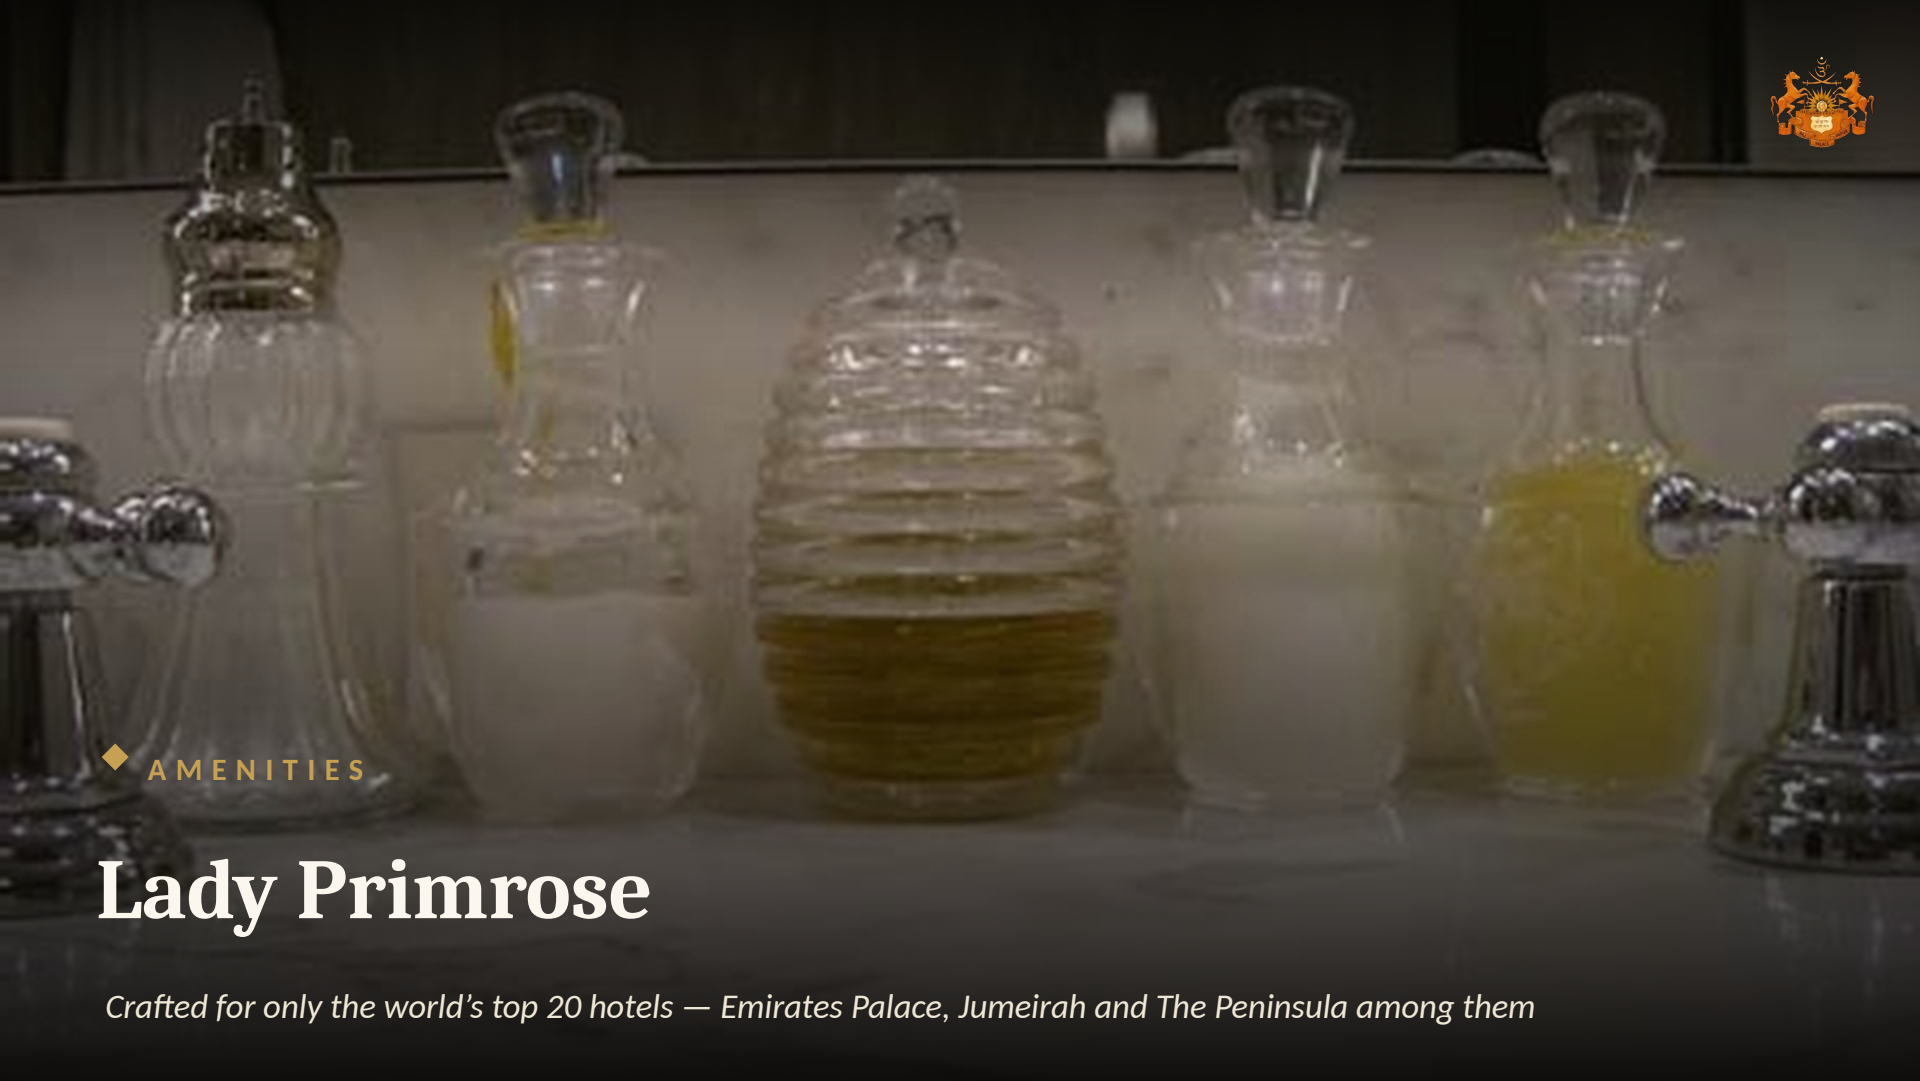

BATHROOMS

Redefining Luxury

Redesigned with the finest specialists from France, Italy and India to the highest standards of luxury and technology in India.

Dual vanities and a separate shower stall alongside the bath; isometric shower technology — a first in Asia.

Bath amenities by Lady Primrose, with dedicated bath butlers for the premier suites.
